Lucky Children Get White House Space Dog Pups

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—A Missouri boy and an Illinois girl will get two direct-line descendants of the Soviet space dog Strelka from the White House kennel.

Mark Bruce, 9, of Columbia, Mo., and Karen House, 10, of Westchester, Ill., a Chicago suburb, expressed amazement Sunday when they learned that Mrs. John F. Kennedy had chosen them from among 5,000 applicants for puppies.

"I can hardly believe it," said Mark, a minister's son, who accidentally killed his dog with a swinging baseball bat this summer.

Karen said she originally got one of the standard White House letters rejecting requests for the pups because of the number of applications. But then came Sunday's telephone call from Mrs. Evelyn Lincoln, President Kennedy's personal secretary, and Karen said, "I'm all mixed up. I'm so happy."

Even her parents couldn't quite believe it—they called the White House to make sure it wasn't a prank.

Of the brown puppies born to Pushinka, daughter of the Soviet dog that orbited the earth, Karen will get Butterfly, a female. Mark will receive Streaker, a male.

Butterfly and Streaker, along with Blackie and White Tips, were born June 14 to Pushinka, a gift to the Kennedys from Soviet Premier Khrushchev. The pups were sired by Charlie, Caroline Kennedy's terrier. Caroline named all four pups.

Mrs. Kennedy in a hospital recovering from the birth of a premature baby who lived less than two days, asked to see some of the letters requesting pups.

Ten were selected for her. From these the First Lady chose Karen and Mark to receive the puppies.

Moon Spaceship Project Carries Fat Price Tag

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The launching of the three-man Apollo spaceship toward the moon late in this decade will climax the most expensive peacetime venture ever undertaken by man.

Estimates of the total cost range from $20 billion to $40 billion. The fat price tag was underscored last week when the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced signing of the largest contract it has ever negotiated. North American Aviation Inc. received the $934.4 million plum for initial development and production of the Apollo craft's two major sections, the command and service modules.

The command module will house the three astronauts en route to the moon and during the return trip. The service module will contain propulsion, power and other supporting equipment.

Over 300,000 Involved Earlier, NASA signed a $387.9 million contract with Grumman Aircraft Engineering Corp. to develop the third section of the Apollo ship, the lunar excursion module in which two of the pilots will ride to the lunar surface while the main body of the ship orbits the moon.

Both contracts cover work until mid-1965.

The Apollo effort is so widespread that it cannot be handled by a handful of companies. The space agency estimates that more than 20,000 firms and 300,000 people eventually will be involved in the project. That's about $2 billion a year in salaries alone.

North American estimates that about half its contract dollars will go to subcontractors and suppliers.

While North American, Grumman and their subcontractors work on the lunar ferry, hundreds more firms are busy developing the hundreds of thousands of parts, large and small, for the gigantic Saturn V rocket which in two minutes will consume 2,100 tons of fuel to start the astronauts on their way.

More than $1.3 billion has been earmarked for Saturn development in this fiscal year. Estimated cost for each launching of the 360-foot vehicles, including booster price, is $100 million.

Tests To Be Costly

Before the hardware can be flown, it must be thoroughly groundtested, and launch pads must be built. For fiscal 1964, NASA has requested $800 million to construct test facilities in Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Cape Canaveral and other centers.

The biggest construction expenditure in the next few years will be at Cape Canaveral where nearly one billion dollars will go into launching complexes and support facilities. Already, 5,000 construction workers are on the job. Next year there will be 4,000 more.

Why the high price for the great moon adventure?

Walter C. Williams, associate director of the Manned Spaceflight Center, recently gave this explanation:

"Increases in technology since the days of Ferdinand Magellan and wooden sailing ships have not come easily, nor have they been cheap.

"To be able to fly higher and faster, researchers found that they not only needed a vehicle that would give high engine performance, but one that could protect its pilots from heat and cold and provide an environment in which a pilot or crew could survive."

Senators Quiz Military Chiefs About Test Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—Military chiefs face Senate questioning today on the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

They are on record as favoring it if safeguards are taken against some risks they say are involved. But their appearance before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee gives them their first chance to offer public views on provisions of the pact which bans all but underground tests.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff testified last week that the chiefs are unanimous in support of the treaty while recommending safeguards such as improved detection devices, an underground testing program and quick resumption of atmospheric tests should the Soviet Union break the pact.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara already had assured the Senate that provision would be made for these and other safeguards.

Stated to testify at this morning's open hearing and at a closed afternoon session were Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, the Army chief of staff; Adm. David L. McDonald, Chief of Naval Operations; and Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, the Air Force chief of staff.

As the hearings moved into their second week, Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he expects the Senate to ratify the treaty "with a few extra votes."

Ratification requires a favorable vote of at least two-thirds — 66 if the 99 senators are present. There is one vacancy since the death of Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn.

Leaders have predicted about a week of Senate debate after the hearings end. A vote is expected soon after Labor Day.

The treaty got strong backing Sunday from George F. Kennan, former U.S. ambassador to Moscow, Kennan, who resigned recently as ambassador to Yugoslavia after 29 years of diplomatic service, gave his views on NBC's Meet The Press.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Alliance for Progress, President Kennedy's master plan for helping Latin American nations, has cost U.S. taxpayers $2.5 billion. There are mixed views on how well it is doing.

The 10-year program marking its second birthday is a U.S.-Latin American undertaking aimed at replacing poverty and stagnation with economic and social progress.

A long weekend of second anniversary observance will be climaxed here Tuesday. Kennedy will meet with Alliance for Progress visitors and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson will address the Organization of American States.

Kennedy said in a weekend statement that he was "heartened by the advances that have been made in a short space of time," but cautioned that much more needs to be done.

A gloomier assessment came recently from a former Brazilian president, Juscelino Kubitschek, who reported to the OAS in June that the alliance suffers from "uncoordinated and confused implementation" and is "drifting farther and farther away from the needs and aspirations of the Latin American people."

The record on self-help and reform by the Latin American countries — termed the "cornerstone of the alliance" — is spotty.

Soviet-Yugoslav Relations Being Patched Up Again

By The Associated Press

The often-chilled Soviet-Yugoslav romance basks again this week. Premier Khrushchev is headed for Belgrade, and his visit seems to betoken a significant victory at home for his policies.

Whatever Khrushchev's trouble may be with divisions in the Communist world, his meeting Tuesday with President Tito indicates that in his own balliwick, Khrushchev is at the pinnacle of his personal political power.

Soviet-Yugoslav relations get a periodic defrosting. The defroster, switched on again about a year ago, is going full blast.

Big U. S. Investment

Once again, the recurring Belgrade-Moscow ritual of mutual admiration will arouse questions in the United States, which, since Stalin said Tito from the Communist fold in 1948, has invested more than a billion dollars in one or another form of assistance to Yugoslavia.

Khrushchev, in Stalin's time, joined with other Soviet leaders in calling Tito a traitor for rejecting total Moscow domination.

Since Stalin's death, Yugoslav-Soviet relations have served as a fair barometer of Khrushchev's authority. When relations with Belgrade were good, he seemed to do well. When relations sagged, Khrushchev appeared to be having difficulties at home.

The Soviet leader ostensibly is on vacation but to the Red Chinese who call Tito the arch-enemy of world communism, Khrushchev hardly could have delivered a more calculated slap in the face.

For almost 10 years Khrushchev has tried to have the Belgrade-

Rescuers Bore Hole To Men In Coal Shaft

HAZLETON, Pa. (AP)—Rescue workers lowered soup, medical supplies, head lamps and a requested cigar today to three coal miners trapped since Tuesday near the bottom of a 400-foot shaft.

"We're all okay," shouted David Fellin, 58, one of the trio, after a six-inch drill broke through into the gangway where the men had fled after the main shaft walls collapsed.

Contact was made just before midnight Sunday after they virtually had been given up for dead. The next step is to bore a 28-inch hole to bring the men out.

There were various estimates on how long it would take. H. B. Charnbury, secretary of mines for the state of Pennsylvania, estimated it might take anywhere from a day to a week, Ralph Ditzler, district mine inspector, however, said it would take two to three days.

It took 22 hours to drill the six-inch shaft.

Sleeping Peacefully Ditzler said he wanted to start the rescue digging, but had to hold up because the trapped men were too tired to direct the operation.

All activity outside the mine stopped and most of the onlookers returned to their homes. Silence fell over the area as the three men, now aware that rescue was only a matter of time, slept peacefully some 400 feet below.

Microphone Lowered

After the first contact, a microphone was lowered. Fellin talked with his wife, Anna, and son, Joe.

"Dave, Dave," she shouted, "how are you?" "Okay," he replied. "Are you sure? Can you hear me? Are you sick or hurt?"

"I can hear you hollering all over. No I'm not sick or hurt."

Fellin reported he and Henry Throne, 28, were in one section and Louis Bova, 52, separated from them about 25 yards by debris. Bova was hurt slightly, Fellin said, but all three were in contact with each other.

The mine, of which Fellin is a co-owner, is at Shepleton, in adjoining Schuylkill County about nine miles from Hazleton and some 80 miles northwest of Philadelphia.

This is the heart-land of the anthracite coal mining area. Underground, as one expert has put it, the land is like a piece of Swiss cheese—honeycombed with coal shafts. Pine forests cover much of the ground.

New Slide Is Danger

The problem in sinking the 28-inch bore, said Charnbury, is too-fold: Make certain it is accurate and make certain no new slide is started.

"If we put the 28-inch rotary drill in the same spot as the six inch hole, will we reach you okay?" Gordon Smith, assistant state secretary of mines who is directing the digging operation, asked Fellin.

"It will be close enough," said Fellin.

After the six-inch hole broke through, John Biros, a friend of Fellin, shouted into the hole. It was drilled to a depth of 331 feet. "Who are you?" came the reply from the mine. "We're all okay."

Biros leaped back from the hole and exclaimed: "They are alive! I hear them! They're alive!"

The dramatic contact with the men brought relief to a vigil which had lasted 134 hours and 25 minutes.

Cold Cures With Antibiotics May Get Ban Of FDA

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington: COLD CURE: The Food and Drug Administration is proposing a ban on prescription cold cure remedies containing antibiotics.

It says a special medical panel has concluded there is no evidence that antibiotics have any value in treating the common cold or its side effects.

The proposed ban could become effective in mid-September, after expiration of a 30-day period the FDA announced Saturday for receiving comments on the proposal.

British Robbery Clues Piled Up

LONDON (AP)—Scotland Yard experts, studying 15 sets of fingerprints found at the farm hideout used by the great train robbery gang 10 days ago, hoped today that the prints would identify more of the men who got away with $7.28 million.

The prints were found in buildings at isolated Leatherslade Farm at Oakley, the gang's hideout 18 miles from where the Glasgow-London mail train was held up. Police hoped they would match prints in the yard's criminal records.

Other possible clues included: —A Monopoly set, a card game usually played with stage money but believed used by gang members playing with their banknote loot while they waited in their hideout to make their getaway.

—A house in a respectable district of London where, detectives were told, 12 men began holding night meetings behind darkened windows last March.

—Five men sought for questioning because they have been absent from their homes since the robbery.

—A trail of five-pound banknotes in St. Helier, Jersey, one of the Channel Islands.

—A suitcase and a briefcase found stuffed with $282,520 in a Surrey wood last Friday.

—A second-hand black Austin-Healey sports car, found in a parking lot where it had been left by a dapper man and a plump, pockmarked woman.

The couple bought the car for $2,338—all in five-pound notes—the day after the robbery.

Father And Son Drown As Truck Plunges In River

By The Associated Press

A Bay City father and his son drowned in the Saginaw River when their truck went through a bridge railing Saturday as state police counted at least 16 persons dead in Michigan weekend traffic accidents.

In addition, at least three persons drowned in non-traffic connected accidents.

The weekend traffic toll was a sharp drop from that of last weekend when state police recorded 32 deaths in the 54-hour period.

Duane Doan, 36, of Bay City, and his son, Duane Jr., 5, drowned in the Saginaw River at Bay City Saturday night when their pickup truck went through a bridge railing and plunged into the water.

Mishaps Down 2 Balloonists At Kalamazoo Show

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Accidents sent two balloonists tumbling earthward in their attempts at setting records during the weekend's air show here.

A parachute floated South Dakota Don Piccard, 37, safely to earth when the aluminum gondola broke loose from his helium-filled balloon at 200 feet. The parachute device was automatic.

Minnesota Ralph Burgard, 36, suffered a broken ankle and toe when he plunged 60 feet after a seam on his home-made balloon tipped Saturday.

About 25,000 persons attended each day of the show.

Kansas pilot Mrs. Mary Ann Noad won the 200-mile women's cross-country plane race. Dick Pollard, 18, of Colorado, in his first balloon flight, won the Hill Trophy and national championship for hot air balloons.

More Exhibits, Attendance Put Fair At Success Level

There were more exhibitors, attendance was slightly above a year ago, and in general the 1963 U. P. State Fair was successful, Ray LaPorte, secretary-manager, said today in a preliminary report.

The fair closed last night after a grandstand show starring Miss Brenda Lee attracted an enthusiastic crowd of more than 3,000. The weekend was equally happy with large grandstand audiences for the races and a good turnout Saturday night for the Ray Price show.

Meeting Saturday the Fair Board of Managers elected Kemp Brown of Munising chairman, filling a vacancy created earlier this season with the expiration of the term of Dean Jackson of Ontonagon. Brown had been serving as acting chairman. Carl P. Hansen of Wallace is vice chairman.

The dates for the 1964 Fair were set for Aug. 18-23, one week later than this year's exposition, which was the earliest since the Fair was established by the Legislature 35 years ago.

"Gross revenue on auto parking this year was $5,857.50 and $223 above last year, which would indicate a larger attendance," said LaPorte. There was plenty of parking competition in the area also.

"The carnival gross from the midway was down about $2,000 from last year which is not bad considering the chill evenings and the washout on Friday," LaPorte said. "It is hard to make up a whole day."

Many more exhibitors this year meant more premium money spent than had been budgeted.

"We're going to hit about $26,500 in premiums this year, which is some $1,500 above the $25,000 allocated," said LaPorte. "This makes everyone very happy of course, but it also means that the additional $1,500 must come from operations which will put us on an austerity budget to July 1 and the beginning of the new fiscal year."

The Legislature will, of course, be asked for an increase in premiums on the basis of this year's experience. There is every reason to believe the request would receive favorable consideration, LaPorte said.

The beef and dairy, horses and other livestock barns at the Fair were filled to overflowing this year. Not only that, but there was increased public interest in visiting the barns, with larger crowds than ever before.

LaPorte said the beef and dairy farmers are to be consulted at meetings later this summer and brought together next fall to discuss their problems of space at the Fair.

School board To Meet On Tuesday

The Escanaba Area Board of Education will meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Administration Building next to the Webster School, with Dr. William Hemes, president, conducting the meeting.

Business to come before the board, said Supt. Walter Bright, will include:

A report and recommendation from the budget committee on an operating budget for the coming school year, a report by the transportation committee, and a report on personnel and hiring to fill vacancies.

There will also be a report on the completion of building maintenance work this summer; and reports by the superintendent on several matters of school operation.

$20 Million Plan Adopted By Tech

HOUGHTON—Michigan Tech's Board of Control Friday approved long-range capital expenditure plans for the College of almost $20 million, and determined a new site for a federal forestry lab on the campus.

The capital expenditure figure is for the five-year period from 1964-69. It includes almost $3 million for the Sault Ste. Marie campus and the rest for the Houghton campus. The amount covers remodeling, additions and new construction.

Board Chairman Fred Seest said six or seven acres will be made available for the construction of the new U. S. Forest Service Forest Engineering Research Laboratory on the west side of Forest Hill Road south of 7th St.

Last month Congress approved $23,000 for design and specifications of the new Laboratory. This marked the initial step in the eventual construction of a forestry complex on the Michigan Tech campus. The complex is planned to include the federal lab and Tech's Department of Forestry and Forest Products Research Division.

The Forest Engineering Research Laboratory was established on the Tech campus in 1961. The college originally provided a 10-acre plot south of the intersection of Sharon and Garnet St. for the lab site. This acreage will be retained as an equipment proving ground and for garages and storage facilities.

When facilities are completed 10 more scientists will be added to the staff, along with the necessary clerical and service personnel.

Students Advised On Registration At Public School

Information concerning the pre-registration of students in the Escanaba Area Public Schools was presented today by Supt. Walter Bright.

Parents of students who will be enrolling in the Area Public Schools for the first time this year were advised that students are required to register on Wednesday, Aug. 21, if registration has not already been made.

Students in grades 9 through 12 are asked to register at the Senior High School on S. 23rd St.

Students in the 7th and 8th grades are to register at the Junior High School.

All pupils in grades kindergarten through sixth who have not registered previously may register in the administration building, 1219 N. 19th St., next to the Webster School.

"This daily registration will give school officials an opportunity to plan more carefully for each individual student," the superintendent explained.

The registrations will be taken between 9 a.m. and noon and from 1 to 3 p.m.

Finman, son of Police Chief and Mrs. Harold Finman, 712 S. 15th St., a June graduate at Northern Michigan University, Marquette, has enrolled in the University of Minnesota graduate school to become a school psychologist. ## Michael Klimak Dies At Tomah

Michael Klimak, 68, who formerly lived in Escanaba at 1011 Sheridan Road, died Sunday at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Tomah, Wis., where he had been a patient the past 12 years.

He was born in Russia and he was a woodworker during his active years. He is a veteran of World War I.

Surviving is a cousin, Gregory Klimitz of Escanaba.

The body was taken to the Anderson Funeral Home. Arrangements for services will be completed later today.

Michigan Gains Told By Brown

State Treasurer Sanford Brown visited the U. P. State Fair Thursday and shook his political head mournfully and told people he met that there'll be the heck to pay over the new Michigan constitution.

He agreed, he said, with the wag who declared that "it will be a full employment bill for attorneys."

(Brown is a Democrat and his party opposed the new constitution, which takes effect Jan. 1.)

Brown said it is possible that Michigan will be without a legislature because of failure to implement the new constitution's provision for an 8-member bipartisan commission on legislative apportionment. The Republicans have named their members, including Ralph Huhtala of Iron Mountain as the Upper Peninsula member, but the Democrats have not named their four members yet.

Brown said that Attorney General Frank Kelley, a Democrat, has ruled that the commission members can't be legally paid for work done before Jan. 1, 1964. Since nominations must be filed in June for the fall primary the apportionment of 114 legislative districts in Michigan must be completed by early March.

This timetable is in increasing trouble as time passes. The Democrats want Governor Romney to put a call in his fall Legislative session for action but he says it isn't necessary, says Brown, who insists he'll pay no state money to legislative apportionment commission members until after Jan. 1, unless the law is changed.

On the brighter side Brown said that Michigan is now getting a much better interest rate on its school bonds than it did a few years ago. He had his own explanation for it. "Investors," he said are finally recognizing the Michigan Sale Bond Loan Funds for what it is. If they qualify for it and can't pay debt service all the bondholders have to do is notify the state treasurer and he can pay them.

"When the banks went to 4 per cent interest it also helped bond sales. Previously many banks didn't buy school or municipal bonds (which school bonds are). When the interest was increased banks that had held to 10 years on these kinds of bonds doubled the maturity time and bought 10 to 20 years bonds and became good customers in the bond market. These are tax free bonds and while they pay 3 to 3.5 per cent interest, if a bank is in the 52 per cent bracket the rate gives 5.6 or 7 per cent and more are."

Brown said the interest benefit in the improved state image was almost one per cent on Michigan securities.

Brown said that increases in the beer and whisky taxes had contributed heavily to the state's improved debt position, which will allow payment of about $50 million of the state debt as of the end of the fiscal year last June 30, but that the increase was driving Michigan breweries to the wall.

Brown said the beer tax increase last year brought in an additional $27.7 million and the whisky tax increase $7 million, or a total of 35 million of the $50 million surplus.

Romney's Envoy Boomed In Ecorse

DETROIT (AP)—The personal representative of Gov. George Romney was roundly booed Sunday when he tried to address an equality rally of about 2,000 Negroes in the Detroit suburb of Ecorse.

William Hague, Ecorse Municipal Judge listed on the program as Romney's envoy, was greeted by a ripple of jeers when he took the podium.

"I hear you want to boo," the Negro Judge said. "Well, go ahead."

About 30 seconds of boos and jeers followed, and then Hague began his address.

When he said Romney would become known as "the most effective civil rights leader in the history of Michigan," the jeers grew so loud he could not continue.

After two minutes of boos and catcalls, the chairman called for order and asked that Hague be allowed to finish his address. The crowd quieted, and when Hague concluded he took his seat amid mixed boos and applause.

First Trawler Is Being Fitted For Local Operations

The first commercial trawler to be operated in upper Green Bay and Bays de Noc waters is being fitted out at Cedar River this week by the Ruleau brothers, Robert and Louis. Louis lives at Cedar River and Robert lives at Sugar Creek to the south.

The trawl vessel is the 61x15½ foot steel fish tug Luella May which the former owner, Harry Seabrooke of Erie, Penna., delivered to the Ruleaus last week in Escanaba. She is a shallow-V hull type, lies low in the water and was built at Erie in 1947 for the Lake Erie fishery. She hasn't been used for fishing for a year because of the decline of the Lake Erie fishery.

The Ruleau brothers are from a well known Green Bay west shore family of fishermen which has had a fishery south of Cedar River for three generations and their maternal grandmother was a member of the Williams family, which has fished on the West Shore since deep into the last century.

The Ruleau Brothers have fished smelt in the winter through the ice of Little Bay de Noc and they fished perch in these waters in the fall but this fishery has declined until they found it unprofitable. "We have had only 8 or 9 weeks of pound net fishing in the summer," said Bob Ruleau and we're going to try trawling as a way to extend our season. We hope we can go until late in the fall.

"Our trawling will be under a permit from the Michigan Department of Conservation which we have applied for and which we hope to receive this week. We'll start operations as soon as we get the permit and our boat is ready."

Ruleau said that the first pioneer trawling in Green Bay waters was done by Art Swayer of Peninsula, Wis., out of the port of Marinette-Menominee in 1958 for smelt. The operation prospered until the smelt disappeared.

Swayer now has three trawlers operating in Lake Michigan waters out of Racine, Wis., and a fourth boat operating in Lake Winnebago. The Lower Lake Michigan trawls take chubs and alewife.

At Saugatuck, Mich., Peel & Chambers are operating trawls in Lake Michigan. Ruleau said they could take fish but had difficulty marketing them for animal foods. "They're not making a fortune," he said.

State Supervision
Clifford Long, Escanaba District fisheries supervisor of the Michigan Conservation Department said the Conservation Commission approved the permit at its last meeting and the department issued it on Aug. 16. It expires Dec. 31 and before any 1964 trawl permits are issued the season harvest will be reviewed.

A Conservation Department representative will be on the trawler at all times and if any fish species is being endangered the regulations will be modified or the fishing suspended.

The permit will authorize the Ruleau Brothers to trawl for chubs, herring, alewife and smelt in upper Green Bay and Bay de Noc and another area in Lake Michigan may be opened later.

The Green Bay and Bay de Noc waters are south of an east-west line from Escanaba light and that part of Big Bay de Noc south of a line from Chippewa Point (on the Stonington Peninsula) to Snailshell Harbor lighted bell buoy at Fayette.

Trawling must be at depths not less than 30 feet except during April-May 20 and Oct. 1-Dec. 5 when it must be not less than 72 feet (to avoid catching spawning fish.)

For Animal Food

The area of Lake Michigan which will be opened to experimental trawling later is off Schoolcraft County inside a line south of Sault Ste. Marie and west to St. Martin's Island.

Most of the Ruleau's catch will be for animal food. Chubs are in fair supply, but there are few herring and the smelt population is down. The animal food market is low priced and large volumes must be handled to make it possible to operate, as it pays only 1 to 2 cents a pound for fish.

Commercial fishermen oppose trawling because it threatens the industrialization of their industry, traditionally carried on as a family operation of small size. The investment needed for trawling is a large one and a few trawlers will have capacity to take as many fish as many small boats.

The Federal Fish & Wildlife Service has been doing experimental trawling in Great Lakes and Green Bay waters to determine the commercial possibilities. It is concerned with management of the lake fishery, which has proved economically difficult or impossible with conventional small boat commercial fishing in the catching of trash fish like alewives, which are present in local water in such great abundance that they create a fishery problem.

The Ruleaus' new vessel is being equipped with a boom, trawl reel and winch. It will have three other type trawl nets with 60-foot wide openings, and can handle 9 tons of fish.

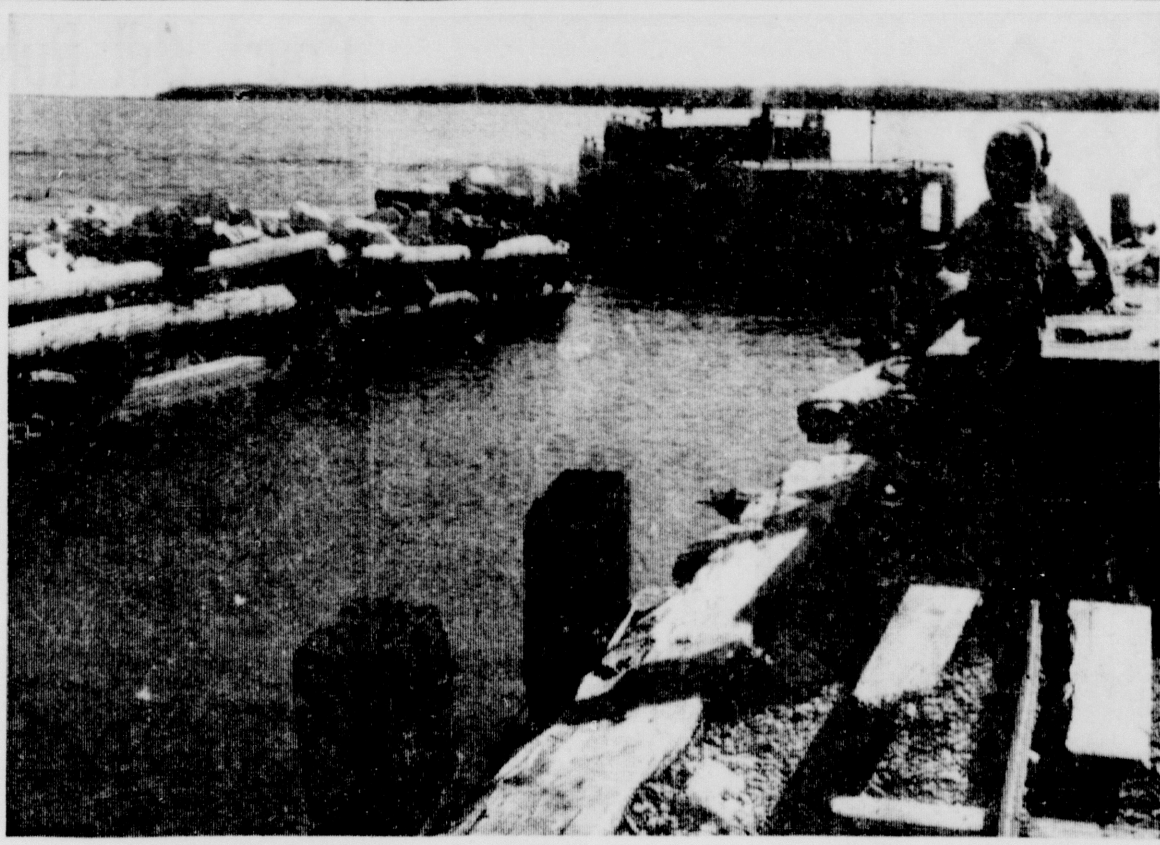

The vessel's diesel motor gives it enough speed for trawling, which is done at 5 miles an hour. The Luella May is equipped with automatic pilot, radio, telephone, fathometer and recording fathometer which can be used to detect the presence of fish. It sends an impulse to the bottom and back, records anything intercepted enroute.

The Fish & Wildlife Service vessel Kaho was fishing out of Cedar River with a trawl last week and took small catches of smelt and alewife.

Miss Grace Brouse has returned home after spending two weeks in Green Bay and Milwaukee visiting relatives and friends.

A DeVet fishboat comes into the DeVet dock at Fairport near the end of the Garden Peninsula to unload a catch of chubs. Some Fairport fishermen send their catches to Mackinac and others ship to Chicago and New York. The catches have been light and the market is down, fishermen report. Little Summer Island at the top of Lake Michigan is in the background.

This scene at the DeVet fish dock at Fairport showed Mike and Leslie DeVet and William Ward working on chub nets. After the gillnets have been divested of fish they're taken on a small railway cart to the dry yard where they're reeled. (Daily Press Photos)

Grant Okayed For Menominee Project

MENOMINEE — Simultaneous action last week by the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) and the Menominee County Board of Supervisors assured the proposed airport drainage project through which the city will get the century-old open ditch known as Kirby Creek closed and improved drainage for the northwest section of Menominee.

The FAA approved a grant of $48,000 for the project and the County Board increased its sponsor's share to $27,600, which will be matched by the State through the Michigan Aeronautics Department. The city is putting up about $27,000 into the overall package for storm water projects, laterals etc., within the city to conform to the main airport drainage project.

Vote on increasing the county's shares $7,600 to $27,600 was 20-2, with Supervisors Kermit Tessler, Daggett and a Melvin Fazer, Spaulding, casting the dissenting votes.

Recreational Development

Michigan's corrections-conservation camp program was among the first of its kind in the nation, and today is one of the best, if not the very best. The program involves the placing of certain prison inmates in camps, from which they are transported to conservation projects calling for unskilled labor. The projects range from clean-up detail in parks to building woods roads and bridges.

The program is considered beneficial from several viewpoints. It is believed the inmate's chances of rehabilitation are greater when he is quartered in a camp environment and assigned work out-of-doors. For the taxpayer the camp program makes possible many public projects that could not otherwise be carried out without a great expense for labor. For prison officials the camp program alleviates overcrowding in the walled institutions and represents a savings. It costs much less to house an inmate in a camp than to incarcerate him behind walls.

One of the drawbacks of the camp program is its restrictive range. Prison officials are reluctant to send inmate work crews beyond a radius of about 40 miles from the camp to which they are assigned. Transportation to points beyond this distance increases operational costs and lowers the productivity of the work crews.

The result is that many conservation projects that could be undertaken by camp inmate labor must be neglected because they lie beyond the 40-mile range. In the Upper Peninsula, for instance, there are four corrections-conservation camps. They are Camp Porcupines in the Porcupine Mountains, Camp Alberta in Baraga County, Camp Cusino in Alger County and Camp Paradise in Chippewa County.

All four of the camps are in counties lying along the Lake Superior shore. Because of this, many potential conservation projects in the southern part of the Upper Peninsula—along the Lake Michigan and Huron shores and in Dickinson and Iron counties—cannot be undertaken on account of their distance from the camp sites.

State Sen. Emil Lockwood, (R-Gratiot County) believes he has a solution to this problem. He outlined his proposal while touring corrections facilities in the Upper Peninsula with Gus Harrison of Lansing, state corrections director.

Senator Lockwood proposes that the Corrections Department acquire a couple of house trailers and assign camp crews to them to provide a mobile labor force of inmates. The trailer units could move about throughout the Upper Peninsula to carry out work details in areas that are now too far removed from the permanent camp sites.

The senator's proposal has merit and we hope he will introduce legislation to set up a pilot program involving mobile camp units, preferably in the Upper Peninsula.

An example of what units of this sort might accomplish: Michigan has 769 public fishing sites, but only 367 of them are developed and usable. The Conservation Department, which administers these sites, does not have the funds to develop them. Undoubtedly, many of these undeveloped sites lie in the southern half of the Upper Peninsula. If camp inmate labor could be employed on these sites, the problem of developing them and putting them in use should be greatly simplified.

The Press endorses Senator Lockwood's proposal and urges the Legislature to act favorably upon it.

The Doctor Says:

Take Trip, Take It Easy

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

When you start out with your family on an auto trip you often find that everyone apparently had the same idea. These persons who impede your progress include an estimated 17,000 who will be killed this summer in traffic accidents.

A grim thought, but there is no need for you to join the death march. To begin with, have your car put in good running order. Mechanical difficulties not only cause irritating delays that may spoil your vacation, they account for many fatal accidents.

If you are impatient to get to your destination, don't drive—use other transportation and rent a car when you get there. Driving should be leisurely enough to allow you to enjoy the trip as well as the fishing or the hiking at the end of the journey. This is especially true if you are traveling with small children.

Provide children with diverting things to do en route, and above all insist that they remain quietly in their seats. Jumping around in a moving vehicle can not only cause injury to a child—it may cause serious distraction to the driver and result in an accident. If your car is a convertible, never travel with the top down with children.

It is wise to start early in the morning and get a couple of hours of carefree driving in before breakfast. If two can drive alternately this will go a long way toward relieving the fatigue, the cause of a large portion of accidents.

Even with periodic stops for rest and refreshment, it is a mistake to drive more than nine or 10 hours in a day. Above all, stop when you feel the slightest drowsiness. It is surprisingly easy to fall asleep at the wheel. Listening to music on the car radio may help you to stay awake, but a little close harmony with all the family joining in is even better.

Since much driving is on super-highways, it is well to observe a few basic rules:

- If you find that you left without locking the cellar door and must head back home, don't under any circumstances cross the center strip. This is not only illegal it is courting serious disaster. Proceed instead to the next authorized exit.
- Always use your directional signals before changing lanes. Don't change lanes any oftener than you have to.
- Don't consider every truck an invitation to pass. Many trucks travel 60 miles per hour on these highways. At 60 m.p.h. you should always leave six car lengths between you and the car ahead.
- If you don't want to go as fast as most of the cars are going get in the right lane. But if 60 m.p.h. is the speed limit, don't drop below 45 m.p.h. even in this lane.

On any long trip you should have a first aid kit with you. Minor injuries have been known to occur while changing a tire miles from the nearest drug store. An antiseptic, absorbent cotton, and adhesive bandages are minimal requirements. Talcum powder, sunburn lotion and other convenience items may also prove useful.

RIVALS TO PRESIDENCY

Before entering the White House, two U. S. presidents had run against each other for the vice presidency. Calvin Coolidge and Franklin D. Roosevelt were the Republican and Democratic nominees for vice president in the Harding-Cox presidential election of 1920.

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Signs that "the dust is beginning to settle in China again" are considered deceptive.

When Lowell D. Skinner of Akron, O.—the American GI Korean war turncoat—arrived in Hong Kong after 10 years' forced service as a lathe operator for the Communists in Red China, he was reported by cable dispatches as having said:

"Anti-American feeling in China is not as great as anti-Russian... There has been a notable increase in the violence of anti-Russian statements ever since the Russian technicians were withdrawn in the late 1950s."

There is a lot of wishful thinking in Washington and other free world capitals that the split between Russia and Red China will develop into a full-scale war. The hope seems to be that they will destroy each other completely and that international communism will perish from earth at the same time.

That would be a historical solution by letting the dust settle.

For thousands of years China has been overrun by invasions. China has absorbed them all and survived. In modern times, Japan has tried to take over and make over China in two wars, failing both times.

When the United States and its allies liberated China in World War II, they became the No. 1 enemy of the Chinese Communists, who overran the mainland and drove out the Nationalist government.

Then came the Russian wave of domination, beginning with a 30-year treaty of friendship signed in 1949. In less than 10 years Russia sia began to renege on its promised aid and to repudiate the treaty, being unable to swallow China.

So the Russians now are the No. 1 enemy of the Chinese. But it does not follow that the dust is beginning to settle in China, in another moment of history.

The diary of a former congressman, Dr. Walter H. Judd, R-Minn., provides an illustration of this. One entry covers a February 1950 briefing on China policy which former Secretary of State Dean Acheson gave a group of Republican congressmen who were worried about the situation.

Chiang Kai-shek's government had fled to Formosa in December 1949. India recognized Red China immediately. The United Kingdom followed. There was fear the United States would follow suit to establish a two-China policy.

Then the Red Chinese made the mistake of seizing the American consulate in Peking. President Truman decided that the United States would never recognize a bunch of bandits.

This ended that worry. But it still left unanswered the question of what American China policy really was. Acheson tried to straighten it out in a series of closed congressional hearings and major public addresses.

At the Press Club on Jan. 12, 1950, in what was probably his most controversial speech, Acheson drew a line on the American defense perimeter in the Pacific—the Aleutians, Japan, the Ryukus—leaving out Korea and Formosa.

Immediately he was in hot water, and he was still up to his chin when he was invited to appear before the Republican congressmen.

No minutes of the meeting were kept, and memories of those who were there and what they said are vague.

In his briefing the secretary analyzed Red China's weaknesses but did not predict its collapse.

When he was asked what American policy would be in this situation, the entry in Judd's diary shows that the secretary replied, "We'll let the dust settle."

In full fairness to Acheson, it may be reported that he does not now think the dust is settling in Red China.

The United States is still the principal enemy of the Chinese Communist government, as the strongest power of so-called capitalist imperialism.

The dispute between Red China and Soviet Russia does not settle any dust. It just raises more dust of a different kind.

Interestingly enough, this is also the opinion of Judd.

Court Will Rule On Districting

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Supreme Court is expected to blow away some of the haze that confronts and confuses the picture of legislative reapportionment in the 50 states.

On Nov. 12 the court will hear arguments in cases involving the districting of legislatures in Virginia, Maryland, New York and Alabama.

The court's decision—expected later in the session—may tell the other states and the other federal courts just what the Supreme Court expects them to do.

Although the Supreme Court, in a March 26, 1962, decision, said that federal courts have jurisdiction in cases where citizens complain about legislative districting, the court left a number of questions unanswered. It may answer them now.

Or, if it doesn't answer the questions in these four cases, the court likely will—if and when it takes up a case involving the Oklahoma Legislature.

Last July 17, a three-judge federal court in Oklahoma City ordered the reapportionment of both houses of the Oklahoma Legislature on the basis of population and nothing else.

Oklahoma Atty. Gen. Charles Nesbitt said he would appeal to the Supreme Court.

The Oklahoma decision is significant because it seems to answer two questions most often asked about reapportionment:

1. Is the "little federal system" legal? These are legislatures which are like Congress in that they have one house apportioned by population and the other by geographic units.

2. If a house is apportioned by population, how strictly does it have to follow population? Do other factors—geography, tradition, area—have a right to be considered?

Reports from Associated Press bureaus throughout the country show that 31 state legislatures, under the prodding of the court's 1962 decision and the drive by the cities and suburbs, have taken some steps to redistrict since the 1960 census.

But, in the eyes of the critics, these often have been no more than token steps. AP bureau reports show that federal suits demanding fair apportionment have been filed in 29 states, 16 of them in states where the legislatures have taken steps.

So far, the survey shows, there has been little change in the balance of power. Rural areas still dominate most state legislatures.

The reapportionment picture is further complicated by the fact that the governors of Illinois, Indiana, Rhode Island and Wisconsin vetoed reapportionment bills passed by the legislatures. In these cases, the conflict was largely political, with the governor not belonging to one party and the legislature controlled by another.

The four cases now before the Supreme Court all involve legislatures that either have taken steps to reapportion themselves or have a law that makes them do so. But suits against them say that these reapportionments are unconstitutional because they are not based strictly on population.

In Michigan, State AFL-CIO President August Scholle challenged legislative apportionment under both the present constitution and the new one which Gov. George Romney helped get ratified.

Arts And Crafts Picnic Planned

Arts and crafts enters its final week and concludes Friday with a picnic for all who have attended. Those going should contact Miss Sue Sawyer, coordinator by noon Thursday, Aug. 22.

Each child should bring his lunch and a bathing suit if he wishes to swim. A lifeguard will be on duty. The bus will pick up children at the usual place for arts and crafts at 10 a. m., and will return about 1:30 p. m.

The schedule for the week includes cotton animals today, Monday and Tuesday, and painted glass Wednesday and Thursday.

Children should bring a glass and wear old clothes. The glasses will be used for vases afterwards so a durable paint will be used.

Teen Hops Are Popular

A suggested title for the weekly teen dance held at the bandshell might be "the silhouette." Sue Sawyer of the Recreation department notes, as with low lights on the outdoor dance area only the silhouettes of dancers are seen. More than 100 youngsters have been participating weekly. The past Thursday with the Princeton of Curtis playing was the "greatest" event. The combo of three guitars and a drum drew a record crowd, with so many listeners dancing room was scarce.

MANISTIQUE

Local Art Show Has Many Visitors, Pictures

A highly successful community art show was held here Friday with hundreds of persons visiting the exhibits.

The show had been scheduled outdoors but was set up in the Junior High School corridor due to rain. Many tourists were included in those viewing the work of local artists and persons who have summer cottages here.

Representatives of the Hiawatha Sportsman's Club also were present and indicated they will probably exhibit here next year, and schedule their annual hobby showing so the Manistique group also can exhibit there. An invitation was presented to attend the Hiawatha Sportsman's show Sunday, Aug. 18.

The Manistique show had 52 exhibitors, more than the local sponsors, the Schoolcraft Historical Society and Chamber of Commerce anticipated. A total of 139 pictures, including many handsome water colors and oils were included in the show. Entries were limited to five per person.

Other art included driftwood made into facial figures by Mark Fish, 8-year-old son of the Hugh Fishes, and "paintings" using seeds in their natural state by Alane Erickson, 12.

Mrs. Karl Krumrey and Mrs. J. Joseph Herbert were co-chairmen for the show and sell exhibit. The show will be continued it was indicated. The first effort won considerable praise from local persons for its quality and the number of visitors attracted.

Visitor Survey Being Made Here

A summer visitor survey is being made by the Manistique City Planning Commission in cooperation with local businessmen and with assistance of Vilcan-Leman Associates, planning consultants engaged by the city.

The study is to help local businessmen and resort operators determine adequacy of present operations and give indication of additional services or improvements needed. It will also provide beneficial information necessary to plan for better and more enjoyable facilities.

The questionnaire asks the home town of the visitor, his reason for coming, the length of stay, preferences, facilities which would induce him to return, general reaction to prices, and services other than food or lodging needed while staying. It also asks comments.

The forms are on mailing-type envelope paper and will be sent to Vilcan-Leman at Marquette.

Area 4-H Youths Entered In State Show At Lansing

Five Delta County 4-H young people will take part in the 48th annual State 4-H Club Show on the Michigan State University campus at East Lansing Aug. 26-29.

They will include: Sue Sundberg and Cynthia Safford, both of Ensign; Henry and Clarence Mroczkowski, Danforth; and Carol Jean Arkens of Bark River, Mrs. Kay LaMarche, adult leader, will attend the state show as a chaperone.

"The state show is really the 'world series' of Michigan's 4-H Club year," said Larry Bradford, county extension agent, 4-H. "However, there's a lot more than competition involved. Many educational events have been added in recent years.

Bradford said the young visitors will learn that a land-grant university has a lot more than classrooms. Educational tours will cover much of the 3,000-acre MSU experimental farm and other Lansing-area points of interest.

Judging of livestock, conservation, nature, arts and crafts and homemaking exhibits will be held each day. Only county winners may compete in the state finals at East Lansing. A tractor operator's contest, an automobile safety event, public speaking elimination and the state dress revue are among the dozens of activities on the week's program.

Delta County's representatives in the state show were all winners in elimination contests for all 4-H Clubs of the Upper Peninsula, held at Camp Shaw, Chatham, earlier this summer.

Sue Sundberg won the award in demonstration of pattern alterations; Miss Safford, public speaking; Henry and Clarence Mroczkowski, the talent contest for their accordion and guitar duet; and Carol Jean Arkens, the modeling award during the annual 4-H dress revue.

Attack By Plane On Oil Refinery Claimed In Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — The newspaper Revolution charged today a plane, probably based in Nicaragua, attacked an oil refinery west of Havana Sunday morning.

It said rockets from the plane set fire to a tank car holding only 8.12 gallons of crude oil and others hit near a dump holding 2 million gallons. The blasts opened a small hole in a big dump, but militia men and workers repaired the damage.

The paper did not report any further damage to the large installation.

The refinery is located at Casilda in the Las Villas Province. Revolution said the plane flew off in the direction of the United States after the attack.

Factory To Make Homes Is Soviet Gift To Yugoslavia

MOSCOW (AP)—On the eve of Premier Khrushchev's visit to Yugoslavia President Tito, the Soviet Union today announced the gift of a factory to manufacture prefabricated housing sections for the quake-ravaged city of Skopje.

Observers saw it as a bid to rival the popularity of U.S. aid to the city before Khrushchev's tour Skopje later this week.

There already is a Soviet army demolition unit working in Skopje wrecking damaged buildings. The Soviet aid, however, has been overshadowed by the arrival of a U.S. Air Force field hospital immediately after the Skopje earthquake and the later U.S. gift of $50 million for relief.

At the time, Yugoslavs were saying, "The United States sent us a hospital; the Soviet Union a telegram." This was a reference to a cable from Khrushchev expressing condolences.

Khrushchev's plans for traveling to Yugoslavia were secret.

He is scheduled to spend a week or 10 days with Tito.

Cardinal Honored

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, dedicated an elementary school named for him at Offutt Air Force Base, Omaha, Neb., saying: "God bless the fine military people who made this possible."

The Mott Foundation's beliefs are simple: schools are built for all the people; school buildings standing idle much of the time can be made into community centers where social, recreational, health and educational facilities may be provided for all. In the past season, more than 120,000 children participated in the Foundation's program, and since 1944, the University of Michigan Extension Service has combined with the Foundation to expand its adult education facilities.

Today, at 87, commenting on his lifelong need to get things done, Mott says: "Old Man Mott is still working days and nights and Sundays, not knowing when to quit." It is a need that has benefited thousands of people in the community he has loved and served for more than half a century.

Maddy And Mott Are Biographical Heroes Of State

"Suddenly each summer on the lake shores of northern Michigan a living truth is rekindled. I have felt its glow all the way around the world, across continents and across borderlines that let down their barriers only for those who know a universal password.

"Nowhere in the world is there a place — or a man — turning out more musical missionaries than Dr. Joe Maddy's summer music camp at Interlochen, Mich. Interlochen is a magic world in the music world and I had left its impact long before I became personally acquainted with it."

Thus Van Cliburn writes in his foreword to Norma Lee Brown's new book, "Joe Maddy of Interlochen." Here is a lively story of one of America's best-known and most colorful pioneers in music. From its early beginning in 1928 this world renowned music camp has grown to encompass other arts, including drama and dance and academic subjects.

Charles H. Young, has written more than the biography of a distinguished industrial and educational leader on the American scene in his book, "Foundations of Living. The Story of Charles Mott and Flint, Michigan." The book tells the story of a city and of the more than 50-year partnership between a dedicated man and his community. Mott went to Flint in 1905 and became one of the first suppliers of parts to the automobile industry.

The Mott Foundation's beliefs are simple: schools are built for all the people; school buildings standing idle much of the time can be made into community centers where social, recreational, health and educational facilities may be provided for all. ## Couple Built Own Retirement Yacht

When the Escanaba Daily Press recently pictured the yacht Shebeen, a visitor to the Escanaba marina, E. G. Newton of Guntersville, Alabama, its skipper, wrote more than a thank-you note.

"This is a home made ship," he wrote "and was built from the bottom up by my wife and myself over a three year period in spare time in evenings and Saturdays, Sunday and vacation time—11,020 man hours by actual record.

"Behind the chord organ which you mentioned is located a wood burning fireplace and a 24 inch heatilator.

"In the engine room we carry our machine shop with lathe, drill press and grinder. It has been my pleasure many times to come upon fellow yachtsmen who were in some kind of trouble and by means of a little work on my lathe relieve them of embarrassment. At Clearwater, Fla., I once saved a 65-foot Burger boat from sinking by turning a simple, tapered wood plug 1 1/4 inches in diameter.

"This ship is in fact our year around home and has been since May 1, 1954. Our headquarters are now at Guntersville, Ala., and all of our personal property except our automobile is on board.

"We have enjoyed the hospitality of many people in your fine little city and shall long remember our visit here. As soon as weather conditions clear up we shall start back for Alabama."

The Shebeen's stationery had a picture of "E. G. Newton, skipper" and "Denver Newton, mate."

The 58-year-old pianist said he has taken about 25 lessons from a teacher in Los Angeles, his home, adding: "She's very patient with me." Lewis said he always loved the classics and became embarrassed when people would ask him to play them.

Poll Indicates South May Switch To Republicans

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Institute of Public Opinion at Princeton, N.J., says the traditionally "solid Democratic south" may be on its way to becoming the "solid Republican south."

A copyright story by Institute Director George Gallup, published in The New York Herald Tribune, says at least two of the possible contenders for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. George Romney of Michigan—now lead President Kennedy in a Gallup poll "trial heat" tests in the south.

The story said racial unrest is on the increase and white voters in the south are highly critical of the Kennedy Administration's civil rights program.

Wife, 18, Shot Dead Stading On Porch

Milwaukee Man To Face Charge

Following an investigation by State Police of the Manistique Post into a complaint against Eric Mattuschek, 21, of Milwaukee, for felonious assault a complaint was signed by the police charging him with assault and battery.

The case was taken under advisement by County Prosecutor Nicholas P. Chapekis.

Mattuschek, who has been held in the Delta County jail since Aug. 9 on the charge, and for reckless driving, is alleged to have threatened Miss Jean Schwartz, 20, of Detroit, with a knife while she was vacationing at the home of her grandmother in Nahma on Aug. 9.

Officers said they were called at 5 p.m. on that date by Miss Schwartz. She told officers she had been engaged to Mattuschek, but had broken off the engagement.

He came to her grandmother's home, Mrs. Elizabeth Feathers, about 4 p.m. Miss Schwartz told police Mattuschek called her names and said "I should slash your throat."

She said he took a knife from his trouser pocket and pushed her against the screen door. She told the officers she managed to scream and break away, running inside the house. Oliver Feathers came to the door and Mattuschek drove off in his car at suicidal speed.

A short distance down Delta County Road 497 Mattuschek's car struck a tree and was wrecked. He was not hurt.

The young man will be arraigned on the assault charge this week before Justice Ross P. Davis in Gladstone.

Miss Schwartz associated with Mattuschek while she was employed in Milwaukee.

Nuclear Test Ban Treaty Is Signed By West Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — West Germany signed the limited nuclear test ban treaty today.

It was the 61st nation to sign in Washington. The German Embassy said West German ambassadors were also signing the document in London and Moscow.

West Germany had been reluctant to sign the treaty fearing that a signature on the document by Communist East Germany would imply Western recognition of that Red regime. After repeated assurances from the United States and Britain, the West German Cabinet decided in Bonn Friday to sign the document.

In a later ceremony, Somalia became the 62nd nation to sign here.

Karen Dorothy Moore Harry D. Cain's Bride

On a honeymoon tour of Canada are the former Karen Dorothy Moore and Harry Duwayne Cain, who repeated their marriage vows in a candlelight service Saturday at Immanuel Lutheran Church in Escanaba.

The Rev. Gordon Thorpe solemnized the 7:30 p. m. double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Moore Sr. of 1221 Stephenson Ave., Escanaba, and the son of Arlie Cain of Dallas, Wis., and the late Marcell Cain.

The reception was held immediately following the service in the social rooms of the church.

Escorted by her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a gown of satin peau de soie, styled with Sabrina neckline, elbow length sleeves and bell shaped skirt. Appliques of embroidered Alencon lace and seed pearls trimmed the front of the skirt, waistline and neckline. The back of the dress cascaded into a full chapel length train. A double crown of pearls and crystals held her bouffant veil of pure silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis with feathered white carnations and ivy, centered with a white orchid.

Her attendants were gowned identically in floor length sheaths of sun bouquet taffeta. The dresses featured a ransom colored train accented by a bow at the waistline. They wore matching ransom taffeta pillboxes with veils and carried bouquets of bronze tone mums and pompons. Matron of honor was Mrs. Milton Kintope of Milwaukee and bridesmaids were Mrs. David Kahl of Barron, Wis., a sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Joe Giovanoni of Kimberly, Wis., a sorority sister.

Dressed in a replica of the bride's gown, young Debra Ann Moore, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a tiny veiled pillbox and her flowers were a miniature bridal cascade.

Best man for his brother was Douglas Cain of Williams AFB, Ariz. The bride's brothers, Cleve Moore Jr. of Minneapolis and John Moore of Gladstone were groomsmen and ushering duties were performed by David Kahl of Barron.

Mrs. Moore attended the wedding and greeted guests at the reception in champagne brocade sheath with which she wore brown accessories and a corsage of bronze and yellow pompons. The bridegroom's stepmother was attired in a white sheath with complementary accessories and her corsage was yellow pompons.

Clothes Care Is Important Thought Of School Shopper

When college-bound youth take stock of their needs away from home, the care of their possessions is an important item.

Boys who in the past had done nothing more strenuous around the home than prying open a coke bottle rapidly become competent with needle and thread, learn how to patch with iron-on strips and can even cope with an iron when needed.

With this do-it-yourself program looming ahead of them, the college-bound shopper does well to buy his college wardrobe with self-care in mind.

Identifying tags on slacks and shirts should be read with care, and if at all possible in the college climate that lies ahead, emphasis should be on wash-and-wear purchases. Fortunately, there are plenty of such suitable fabrics available: washable knitwear, stretchwear, corduroy, foam laminates and synthetics.

When laundry day - or night - comes around, it's best to mend rips and replace buttons before washing. Also, separate the really filthy garments like sneakers, sweat shirts, track suits and dungarees, because they'll need a second suds cycle.

White garments and fast colors require hot suds, while warm water is better for dark and bright colors, wools and synthetics.

To put those razor-sharp creases back into pants, take them from the dryer slightly damp and hang them by the cuffs from a clamp-type hanger. Then grasp a crease edge with one hand, and run the thumb and forefinger of the other hand down the fold to pleat.

Machine - washable synthetics and treated wool sweaters too should be removed from a dryer while slightly damp. Since they may pull out of shape if they are hung up, it's better to spread them flat and pull gently into shape over a towel or a sheet of plastic. This can be placed over a bed - or even under it - until the sweater is dry.

College Coeds Favor Blouses

Feminine, British and classic influences shape cotton blouse fashions for the Fall semester.

Feminine designs are fashioned in sheer cottons such as dotted swiss, organdy, crepe and lady-like floral prints. Sleeves are soft and full with wide cuffs. Necklines are high and round or slightly dipped, rimmed with bows, softly draped hoods or round, shawl and mandarin collars.

The British influence appears in ascot blouses inspired by hunting shirts and in widely collared and back yoked Oliver blouses. Rugby type shirts favor white pique cuffs and pointed collars. Interpreting these styles are cottons in typical small British prints, glen plaids and checks as well as wide striped cotton knits.

The newest blouse on the classics scene is the "dorm shirt." Cut like grandfather's night shirt, it features long cuffed sleeves, collar, a loop on the back yoke and tiny buttons from neck to hem. Almost knee length, this college fashion is perfect for lounging in the dorm. Add a skirt and it's ready to go out. Classic cotton broadcloth stripes and prints are favored for this style.

Brumm Regains Title In U. P. Net Tourney

Bob Brumm, veteran Marquette netter, returned to the Upper Peninsula tennis throne room by capturing the U.P.-Northern Wisconsin Tennis Open tournament here over the weekend.

The crafty 35 year old cemented his claim as the finest tennis player in the region by wading through the ranks of younger players in a tough two-day grind.

In the finals, Brumm matched shots with a brilliant youngster from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Canada. Paul Kent, 17, pressed the veteran before bowing 6-4, 9-7 in the title battle.

Kent advanced with victories over Richard Eggers of Cincinnati, Leonard Brumm of Marquette by default, Dick Annette of Canadian Soo and Austin Duquette of Canadian Soo.

Detroit Rookie Sets Bats Pace With Four Hits

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Detroit rookie outfielder led the Tigers into seventh place Sunday when he belted out three singles and a triple against the Los Angeles Angels. Gates Brown's four hits for four times at bat helped give the Tigers a 3-2 victory at Los Angeles.

Don Mossi's relief pitching didn't hurt the Tiger effort either. Mossi took over for Alan Koch and pitched 5 1-3 scoreless innings, to put Detroit a full game ahead of Los Angeles in the American League race for seventh place.

Billy Moran of the Angels hit the game's only home run. It was the first homer for the Angels in their last 10 games.

The Tiger got 10 hits, nine off Dean Chance, who went seven innings and allowed all three Tiger runs.

The Angels took an early 1-0 lead in the first inning. In the third, Detroit got three extra base hits and went ahead 2-1. Bubba Phillips led off the Detroit fourth with a single, and scored on a single by Koch. The Angels got a run in the same inning on Moran's homer.

More Confusion; W B A Gives Back Crown To Ortiz

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP)—Michigan boxing officials have vowed to stick to their guns and proclaim the winner of tonight's Paul Armistead - Kenny Lane fight "lightweight champion of the world" despite a World Boxing Association ruling.

The WBA decided Sunday to restore the lightweight championship to Carlos Ortiz on the condition that he sign for a match with the winner of the Lane-Armistead bout by the end of the year.

Armistead and Lane, ranked No. 1 and No. 2 respectively by the WBA, went through light limbering up exercises Sunday and had their ears cocked for a word from the WBA convention in Miami Beach.

When the "word" finally came, it was greeted by angry blasts from Lane's manager, Pete Petroskey, and State Boxing Commissioner David Gudelsky.

"I'm sticking to my guns," said Gudelsky. "We're going to declare a lightweight champion Monday night."

Petroskey said he and Lane would consider Ortiz as nothing more than a challenger. If Ortiz wants a fight with Lane, he will have to meet several other contenders first, they added.

Armistead said that if he won, he would be willing to sign immediately for a fight with the Puerto Rican-born lightweight king.

The controversy started about 18 months ago when Ortiz hemmed and hawed his way out of signing for a match with Lane, then ranked the No. 1 contender.

The WBA threatened to lift Ortiz' crown if he didn't sign with the Muskegon lightweight by last June 3. When Ortiz claimed he was unable to sign because of a training injury—and managed to get around the WBA ruling—Gudelsky withdrew Michigan from the organization.

When Lane and Armistead signed for tonight's fight, Gudelsky said he would recognize the champion as the world's lightweight king. So far, he has been unable to other states to recognize it as a title bout.

Whatever the recognition, the fight is expected to be financially sanctioned by some 7,000 to 8,000 patrons, who might pour out $60,000 for the pleasure.

The money prediction is that of Julius Piazza, one of the fight's promoters. The gate he speaks of would be the state's largest in a decade.

Two Tank Marks Broken In Meet

TOKYO (AP) — A powerful American swimmer shattered two more world swimming records Sunday in the U.S.-Japan swimming and diving meet, boosting to four the number of records broken by the team so far in the match.

Carl Robie, an 18-year-old University of Michigan swimmer, set a new world's record of 2:08.2 in the 200-meter butterfly event. He bettered the old record by two-tenths of a second, and topped his own American mark by six-tenths of a second.

The 400-meter freestyle relay record also fell. The American team of Steve Clark, Richard McDonough, Gary Illman and Edward Townsend swam the distance in 3:36.1.

Casper Comeback Produces Victory

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—For three months, Billy Casper, a round man from Bonita, Calif., suffered pain and anxiety from a hand injury.

In the final round of the Tournament of Champions on May 5, he put his 210 pounds into a drive. Something gave. He found himself with an inflamed tendon sheath in his left hand.

For many weeks since the accident, Casper wasn't able to grip a golf club.

The 32-year-old Californian, a former U.S. Open champion, wondered whether his golf career had ended.

But one day the hand began to respond to medical treatment and after a few practice sessions, he accepted a challenge to play Jack Nicklaus in an exhibition. The hand hurt a little, but he shot a 68.

Deciding to test the hand in PGA tournament play again, he entered the $40,000 Insurance City Open and won top money, $6,400. The tourney ended Sunday.

Casper, with a 13-under par 271, downed big George Bayer, the third round leader, by a stroke. Wes Ellis, who set the pace in the first and second rounds, was third with 275, and Doug Ford was fourth with 277.

The victory brought Billy's career earnings to $272,229. Bayer collected $3,600, Ellis $2,500 and Ford $2,200.

Jack Nicklaus, the PGA and Masters champ, picked up $1,675 for his 278 and National Open king Julius Boros got $960 for his 281 over the par 72, 6,515-yard Wethersfield Country Club course.

Softball Tourney Will Open Here Wednesday Night

Sixteen of the Upper Peninsula's best softball teams will battle it out in a double elimination tournament for Class B honors starting at Memorial Field Wednesday night.

The tournament will continue Thursday and Friday with two games each night at the lighted diamond. On Saturday there will be games all day at both Memorial and Babe Ruth fields and action will continue through Sunday, with the title game slated for 8 p. m. at Memorial Field.

Three Escanaba district teams will be shooting for the U. P. Class B championship. Mead, winner of all Escanaba league and tournament honors this season, leads the Escanaba list, followed by Flat Rock and the Merchants.

All three will be in action in midweek contests.

Bill Lancour, president of the Escanaba Softball Assn. and tournament director, announced that Wednesday night's tournament opener at the lighted field will match Escanaba Mead against Ishpeming Casino, winner of the Marquette district tournament played last week in an 8:30 nightcap. The 7 o'clock opener will send Iron Mountain White Star against Marquette Remillard's.

Three Knotted For Golf Spot

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Arnold Palmer, who plays at his best over the tough Firestone Country Club course, meets Jack Cupit and Phil Rodgers in a playoff Tuesday for the fourth and final spot in next month's World Series of Golf.

Palmer, the leading money winner this season with $96,955 in official PGA prize earnings, has won six tournaments, but not the major ones that would earn him a spot in the World Series.

The other three places in the Sept. 7-8 World Series, which also will be played at Firestone's 7,165-yard par 70 layout, will be filled by U. S. Open champion, Julius Boros, British Open winner Bruce Charles and Jack Nicklaus, who captured the PGA and Masters Titles.

Ray Roys Win Golf Tourney

The Ray Roys took top honors in the Mr. and Mrs. golf tournament at the Escanaba Country Club with a net 74.

Second place in the 9 hole handicap tournament was won by the George Shomins with 76.

The annual Father-Son tournament will be held Sunday, Aug. 25.

Pro Jim Crichton announced that entries are being taken for the annual men's club championship tournament that will be played over the Labor Day weekend.

Dennis Ralston New Tennis Hero On U. S. Squad

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The United States Davis Cup team, 4-1 winners over a strong Mexico team in the American Zone semifinals of the international competition, is considered Australia-bound.

The experts had predicted that the winner of the matches at the Los Angeles tennis club would eventually make the challenge round with the perennial Australian champions.

With the emergence of Dennis Ralston as a new giant of U.S. tennis, the experts are more convinced than ever.

Ralston, once the terrible-tempered question mark of the Davis Cuppers and last year's goat in the U.S. loss to Mexico, was the hero of the 1963 victory.

After Rafael Osuna, the Mexican ace, upset top-rated Chuck McKinley in Friday's opening singles match, Ralston conquered (Antonio Palafox to give the United States a 1-1 split.

Then the steady, solid play of Ralston earned the U.S. team the key doubles win over the favored Mexican team of Osuna and Palafox, the Wimbledon champions.

And on Sunday, Ralston gave fans the finest exhibition of amateur tennis seen here in years as he beat Osuna 6-1, 6-3, 7-5. The win, which gave the Americans a 3-1 edge, clinched the competition.

McKinley beat Palafox 6-4, 6-4, 6-3 in the finale.

Osuna, forced to carry the load for Mexico, played brilliantly in couldn't do it all in the doubles, and was pressured off balance by the relentless Ralston on Sunday.

Osuna and Ralston room together at the University of Southern California. They led USC to the NCAA doubles title and in 1960 won the Wimbledon doubles title.

Packers Show Fire In Dallas Victory

DALLAS (AP)—As far as Dallas football fans are concerned, the Green Bay Packers haven't changed unless it's for the better.

The same old tough defense, the hard running, the strong passing and the opportunism of the two-time National Football League champions greeted a crowd of 53,121 Saturday night in the Cotton Bowl.

The Packers beat the Dallas Cowboys for the third straight year in an exhibition.

The score was 31-10, not as wide a margin as the previous two years but more impressive in view of the fact that Dallas obviously has a better team and had really expected to give the Packers a good ball game.

Several questions were answered. Jim Taylor, the Green Bay fullback, had been favoring an injured knee. He said the knee hurt a little in the game with the Cowboys but it couldn't be detected the way the big guy ran with the ball. He carried 12 times for 86 yards—an average of 7.2.

"I'm starting to hit the holes," he said.

There was no evidence that Paul Hornung was being missed. His replacement, Tom Moore, ran 11 times for 70 yards and once got off an option pass for 17 yards to show he could do everything Hornung could do.

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
 The National Football League, its hopes bolstered by a bunch of college boys, sent up two trial balloons in search of a new champion. The Green Bay Packers shot them down, calmly, methodically and quite thoroughly.

So it now looks like chapter three in the saga of the two-time champions from Wisconsin, with or without Paul Hornung.

There were many who thought the chinks were showing in the Green Bay armor when they were surprised by the College All-Stars in the annual game at Chicago.

But the Packers bounced back against Pittsburgh 27-7 in an exhibition game a week later and looked like the terrors of old in a 31-10 romp over the hopeful Cowboys in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas Saturday.

Probably the most impressive feature of the Packer performance was the running of fullback Jim Taylor. He gave his ailing knee its first heavy test and reported it fine and dandy. He picked up 86 yards on 12 rushing attempts and picked up another 16 on one pass reception.

In other NFL games, the New York Giants rallied for a 24-21 edge over Detroit and Baltimore routed the Browns 21-7 in a unique doubleheader that drew a record football crowd of 83,218 in to Cleveland's Municipal Stadium and Minnesota whipped the Los Angeles Rams 27-3 at Los Angeles.

In American Football League action, Kansas City's defending champion Chiefs whipped Oakland 35-21 at Seattle and Denver's Broncos handed the San Diego Chargers their first exhibition loss ever, 21-25, at Denver.

Polo Grounds Great For LA's Dodgers

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hardly a Dodger is left who remembers Bobby Thomson's home run at the Polo Grounds.

The current crop, safely settled in Los Angeles, has nothing but fond memories of the battered old ball yard on the Harlem River where the hapless New York Mets play friendly host.

Dodger hearts grew fonder of the place Sunday as the National League leaders played their last two games ever at the Polo Grounds, won them both, stretched their lead to six full games and salvaged a road trip that had started in a fashion shaky enough to recall 1951, where Thomson homered them out of the flag.

The scores were 7-0 and 3-2, to complete the four-game sweep in the park which will be torn down for a housing project at the end of this season. That made it eight straight for the Dodgers in New York, and gave them a 10-6 record for the road trip.

The San Francisco Giants and the St. Louis Cardinals, locked in second place, were rained out. They will try to get the game in today, before the Cards invade Los Angeles for a crucial set.

In other National League games the Chicago Cubs dealt the pennant hopes of the Cincinnati Reds a crushing blow with a double victory, 2-1 and 4-0. The Philadelphia Phillies won their seventh straight, 3-1 over Pittsburgh, and the Milwaukee Braves took their sixth in seven games, 3-2 over Houston.

In the American League, the New York Yankees opened their biggest lead in nearly two years—10½ games—with 8-2 and 8-4 victories over the Chicago White Sox, while Cleveland beat Boston 7-4, Washington whipped Minnesota 7-3, Kansas City edged Baltimore 5-4 and Detroit took Los Angeles 3-2.

Don Drysdale threw a three-hitter for the Dodgers in the opener with the Mets for his 16th victory. The hits were all singles, he did not walk a man and no Met got past first base. Doug Camilli's two-run homer in the second off loser Al Jackson was all the margin Drysdale needed.

Rookie Dick Calmus, a 19-year-old right-hander, pitched five innings of one-hit relief to win the nightcap. Pete Richert, who started, was lifted for a pinch hitter in the fifth.

Warren Spahn won his 342nd career victory against the Colts, as he scattered seven hits and ran his season mark to 15-5.

Tough Road Trip Pleasure Jaunt For Yankee Club

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It had all the makings of a real tough one. Fourteen games in 13 days, bouncing back and forth from one coast to the other on a hectic road trip covering 7,000 miles.

But for the New York Yankees, it was a pleasure jaunt that turned the American League race into even more of a runaway.

They capped the journey Sunday with a doubleheader sweep at Chicago, giving them a neat 10-4 mark for the trip that carried them to Washington, to Los Angeles and back to Boston before the four-game windup at Comiskey Park.

By whipping the White Sox 8-2 and 8-4, the Yanks built their league lead to 10½ games—the biggest margin they've had at this stage of the season since 1953. The double loss dropped Chicago into a tie for second with the Minnesota Twins, who were trimmed by Washington 7-3.

Detroit shaded the Los Angeles Angels 3-2 behind Don Mossi's nifty relief pitching. Home runs by Jose Azcue and Willie Kirkland helped Cleveland over Boston 7-4 and Kansas City held off Baltimore 5-4.

The Los Angeles Dodgers boosted their lead in the National League and extended their winning string to five games with a sweep over the New York Mets, 7-0 and 3-2. They are six games ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals and San Francisco Giants, whose meeting at St. Louis was rained out.

The Chicago Cubs took a pair from Cincinnati 2-1 and 4-0; wondrous Warren Spahn won the 342nd of his career, pitching Milwaukee over Houston 3-2; and Philadelphia made it seven straight victories, beating Pittsburgh 3-1.

The Yankees, 27-25 on the road before the latest trip, jumped ahead early in both games before the capacity crowd of 44,659 at Comiskey Park and never let the White Sox get too close.

Bobby Richardson had three Yankee hits in the opener and drove in three runs in the second game, which was highlighted by Elston Howard's 4-for-4 performance—a homer, a double, two singles a sacrifice fly.

Ralph Terry won his 14th and Jim Bouton his 16th, but both right-handers needed relief help. Ray Herbert and Joel Horlen were the losers.

The Tigers climbed into seventh place ahead of the Angels. Detroit starter Al Koch delivered two hits and drove in the deciding run in the fourth, but gave way to Mossi in the bottom of the inning and the veteran lefty blanked the Angels the rest of the way. Tiger rookie Gates Brown went 4-for-4 with a triple and three singles.

ATLANTA (AP) — Whether a magazine publishing firm will have to pay Wally Butts $10 million for an article charging he helped rig a football game was a decision facing 12 federal court jurors today.

All that remained before the jury began deliberation in Butts' libel suit was completion of arguments by attorneys and a charge to the jurors by District Judge Lewis R. Morgan.

The jury has heard testimony by 27 witnesses during the past two weeks in Butts' suit against Curtis Publishing Co., owner of the Saturday Evening Post which charged the former University of Georgia athletic director conspired with Alabama Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant to rig the 1962 football game between their schools.

Butts and Bryant denied the charges on the stand.

Butts' attorneys pictured him Friday as the victim of a Post gimmick yielding "untold millions of dollars in publicity."

Attorneys for Curtis attacked Butts' character.

Both sides were allowed one hour each today to complete their arguments.

Lightweights Set For World Title Fight In Saginaw

SAGINAW (AP) — Confident Paul Armistead and a determined Kenny Lane meet in Saginaw's Veterans Memorial Park tonight for what is billed here as the lightweight boxing championship.

Armistead, the California lightweight king, said on his arrival in Michigan last week that Lane was "a little bit over the hill" and boasted "I could beat him the best day he ever saw."

Lane who wants to become the first left-handed lightweight champion in history, refused to comment on Armistead's remarks, adding he'd prove he's as good as he ever was when the two climb through the ropes. Lane is 31, Armistead 26.

Whether or not the winner of the bout will be recognized as the champion in other states remains to be seen.

The World Boxing Association stripped Carlos Ortiz of the lightweight crown, then decided to give him a hearing at its Miami Beach convention this weekend.

David I. Guedesky, chairman of the Michigan Athletic Board of Control, withdrew Michigan from the WBA after it refused to force a title bout between Lane and Ortiz. The WBA's action against Ortiz followed Michigan's departure.

Many promoters tried to get a match between Lane and Armistead, the two top-rated contenders, after the WBA action against Ortiz, but co-promoters Julius Piazza and Hank Steinert already had the two under contract.

Guedesky sanctioned the 15-round bout as a world title contest and tried unsuccessfully to get other states to recognize the winner as champion.

Armistead had a few words on the Ortiz situation himself.

"Titles should be won and lost in the ring," he said. "But Ortiz was making such impossible demands for a title fight that nobody could make the bout. He was just ducking. He didn't want to fight me, or Lane, either."

Lane defeated Ortiz once, then lost a return match after the two bopped heads after missing swings.

Lane was asked what he thought of the sanctioning controversy.

"Maybe Armistead and myself should draw straws instead of fighting for the title," was his quick reply.

But Lane isn't taking Armistead lightly. The California champion has 39 victories and a draw in 50 bouts and has won his last 12 starts.

Lane has 32 victories and 2 draws in 40 starts.

Former major league pitcher Ray Scarborough now scouts talent for the Baltimore Orioles in North Carolina.

Ishpeming Project Bands Woodcocks

By KENNETH S. LOWE

When whip-poor-wills call and evening is nigh, Gary Duke can be found swatting mosquitoes and extricating woodcock from nets set in fields near Ishpeming.

Duke is a graduate student at Michigan State University who is retained by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to help conduct a woodcock study in the Upper Peninsula.

The devices he uses to capture woodcock are Japanese mist nets. Their mesh is so fine that woodcock fail to spot the nets and become entangled in the webbing that is strung from the tops of eight-foot poles almost to the ground.

Assisted by his wife, Mary Ann, Duke tends the nets for about a half hour each evening. He hastens to remove and band each woodcock that strikes one of the nets. When the half hour flight period has ended, Mr. and Mrs. Duke quickly fold the nets so that bats and whip-poor-wills and other nocturnal birds do not become entangled in the mesh.

The nets are spread again at dusk the following evening in hopes of capturing more woodcock.

As soon as the woodcock are disengaged from the netting they are banded and released, unharmed.

Primary purpose of the project is to determine if this mass banding technique is practical for woodcock. If the findings are affirmative, presumably mist netting for woodcock will be conducted on a larger scale in the future in hopes of banding a maximum number of these sporting game birds.

Information gained from the banding process provides federal biologists with guidelines for setting season and bag limits on woodcock.

Dr. Fant Martin, USF&WS biologist assigned to the Patuxent Wildlife Research Station in Laurel, Md., is in charge of the woodcock project. He has spent several weeks this summer in Marquette County directing Duke's work.

Mist netting for woodcock was not considered feasible until it was discovered that these beautifully marked birds with comical long beaks do not spend all their time in tag alder swamps probing for earthworms, but have a tendency to come out to fields in the evening to supplement their diet of worms with beetles, moths and other insects. Mist nets could not be conveniently set up in swamps, but they are nicely adaptable for field use.

Dr. Martin and Duke also have been capturing timberdoodles in Marquette County with two other devices. One is a ground trap which the birds can easily enter but cannot easily get out of.

The other is a long-handled net that is used in conjunction with headlamps similar to those worn on miners' caps. In using this technique, biologists walk through a field and flush woodcock. When the bird takes wing, the headlamp is trained on the woodcock, temporarily blinding it and causing it to fly toward the light, whereupon the bird may be scooped up in the net or — sometimes — caught by hand.

Duke said this is an effective technique for catching woodcock for banding but that it has one serious drawback — it can be used effectively only on nights that are pitch black. Conditions must be ideal for headlighting, and if even the silhouette of trees can be seen against the night sky, woodcock are almost immune to capture with lights.

Duke, who is working toward a master's degree in wildlife management, said similar woodcock projects are being carried out this summer by the federal agency in Maine.

Wearing headlamp, Gary Duke removes trapped woodcock from Japanese mist net in field north of Ishpeming. The net is so fine that it can scarcely be seen in the flash photo.

Juveniles Boost Crime Increase

EAST LANSING (AP) — The crime rate in Michigan has shown a small but steady climb in the past two years mainly due to juveniles, state police report.

The 1962 crime rate showed a 5.9 per cent increase over 1960 and a 4.2 per cent jump over 1961, police said.

At the same time, Michigan population increased only 2.2 per cent over 1960.

The records showed one exception. There were fewer murders in Michigan last year than in 1961. The murder total was 297 in 1961 against a lower 245 in 1962.

Rapes and robberies both went up. There were 939 rapes in 1962 compared to 883 in 1961 and 5,766 robberies last year against 4,774 the previous year.

A heavy 77.1 per cent of the persons arrested in 1962 for major offenses were under 22 years of age compared with 65.3 per cent in 1961 and 54.1 per cent in 1960.

More than half of the group, 55.8 per cent, were in the under 16 age group.

DETROIT (AP) — The annual national convention of the Veterans of World War I will be held in Cobo Hall Sept. 22-25. The convention is expected to attract some 13,000 members.

DETROIT (AP) — The Wayne County AFL-CIO, departing from a tradition, is giving up sponsorship this year of a Detroit Labor Day parade. The Council said it is going to spend the money instead on a county-wide voter registration drive and will resume parade sponsorship next year.

LANSING (AP) — Health Department reports 79 Municipal water departments in Michigan will cooperate with the U. S. Public Health Service in a survey of sodium concentrations in public drinking water supplies.

GALIEN (AP) — A parade and a razor burying ceremony that will start 10 months of beard growing will open Galien's centennial celebration on Labor Day. Beards will be judged next July.

BOYNE FALLS (AP) — The annual three-day meeting of the Michigan chapter of the American Right of Way Association will be held this year at the Boyne Falls, starting Sept. 12.

LANSING (AP) — The deadline is Sept. 15 for southern Michigan landowners who want to sign up in an effort to better farmer-hunter relationships this fall by taking part in a cooperative plan, the Conservation Department advises. Landowners and farmers joining the plan check hunters and permit them to shoot over their land under control.

Soviet Premier Under Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev is believed to be under domestic as well as foreign pressures to reach new agreements with the United States and its allies for easing tensions and reducing the dangers of war.

This belief evidently underlies the cautious optimism indicated by Secretary of State Dean Rusk at his news conference Friday that further East-West accords, following up the nuclear test ban success, may be possible.

Rusk particularly cited the possibility of working out a system for stationing observers in key transportation centers of the great powers to guard against the danger of surprise attack.

At the same time he warned that the hopeful situation could be turned upside down "by tomorrow morning", and added: "We just have to keep working at it to see what can happen."

Rusk was in the Soviet Union a week ago and held policy talks with Khrushchev and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

He is scheduled to meet Gromyko in New York next month for further discussions on the next round of U.S.-Soviet negotiations to reduce tensions. Meanwhile, he is directing consultations with the United States' North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies on a possible nonaggression pact with Soviet bloc countries and on related issues.

Rusk said he believes the Soviet Union "has some real interest in this test ban treaty and in exploring these matters (issues of possible future agreement) further."

"I think the argument between Moscow and Peking about the role of thermonuclear war in the modern world is a serious argument," Rusk declared.

Red China Is Wrong

"I believe that the Soviet Union does have, as all of us have, some great unfinished tasks for its own people in which it would like to make substantially large investment."

Rusk's reference to the conflict between the Soviet Union and Red China was in line with a view widely held by top government officials that Khrushchev is seriously worried about the growing hostility in the Red Chinese leaders toward the Kremlin and feels that he should improve his relations with the West and demonstrate that his policy of peaceful coexistence can produce results.

The dispute over thermonuclear war is a fundamental issue of the conflict, Khrushchev argues that the Communists cannot afford to use major war as an instrument for spreading revolution.

The Chinese contend that great risks are necessary and that war is probably inevitable in the process.

Rusk did not spell out what economic pressures he sees operating on Khrushchev, but his general comment was in line with what well-informed officials say privately. Their view is that Khrushchev must find some way of reducing military costs and the military drain on Soviet industrial resources if he is to expand the civilian economy and increase activities in the light industry and consumer goods fields.

Arms Race Expensive

This evidently was what Rusk had in mind in referring to "great unfinished tasks."

Presumably Khrushchev hopes

Husband Accused Of Knifing Wife

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Willard Schubert, 47, has pleaded guilty to a charge of cutting to kill in the wounding of his wife and Common Pleas Judge Otis R. Hess has sentenced him to 1-20 years in the penitentiary.

Schubert, of Benton Harbor, Mich., was arrested June 19. Melvin Rueger, assistant Hamilton County prosecutor, said Schubert's wife, Orine, left him. He followed her to Cincinnati, found her at a woman friend's house, and attacked her with a knife.

that agreements with the West would lessen the danger of war would make it possible to make the reductions in military costs which would allow him to finance activities in other fields.

Friday night, W. Averell Harriman, chief U.S. negotiator of the limited nuclear test ban treaty, said that after last October's Cuban missile crisis showdown "it became very evident that Mr. Khrushchev did not want to have anything to do with atomic war."

Khrushchev is finding it very expensive to keep up the arms race, Harriman said in a program taped for Florida radio-television stations.

The Soviet Union is trying to get all nations to sign the treaty to "keep the spotlight on Red China for failing to sign," Harriman continued. "They are trying to make the world believe that Red China is more dangerous than they are."

The emperor of Japan continues to serve as the constitutional monarch under the new constitution adopted in 1947.

Bombers To Bring More Sonic Booms

PERU, Ind. (AP) — B38 jet "hustler" bombers will fly six supersonic missions each day—today through Friday, resulting in possible sonic booms along a corridor from over Lake Michigan 30 miles west of Benton Harbor, Mich., to Kincheloe Air Force Base, Mich., near Sault Ste. Marie.

Bunker Hill Air Force Base spokesmen said the 15-minute flights were scheduled daily to start at 6:45 p.m., 7:30 p.m., 8:15 p.m., 8:30 p.m., 9 p.m., and 9:15 p.m., est.

BOOKS DIDN'T BALANCE

BLUE RIVER, Ore. (AP) — The McKenzie School Board ordered an audit of the school's student body fund after questions were raised about the possibility of an unauthorized deficit.

The auditor's report showed that there was $70 more money in the fund than was on the books.
